FREE Tomatoes for Father's Day Weekend

MUKWONAGO, WI – The United States is filled with people who are filled with silly, ridiculous nonsense. Some of the things those aforementioned people say or do are too good to pass up. Seriously. Politicians, celebrities, wannabe celebrities and even local favorites – they all continually make a mess. We've decided to give some mess back for Dad's day. Throw a tomato and make a mess you don't have to clean up. TomatOrama Kitchen Table edition is available free over Father's Day weekend in the Apple App Store and Google Play.

TomatOrama lets players throw a tomato at a moving target. When you miss, you get the target's snarky taunt. Levels increase in difficulty and a timer keeps track of play. When all 12 levels are completed, players can try to best their time and submit the name of someone or something they'd like to throw a tomato at. Suggestions will be considered for future games. Hints about future editions – and their targets – can be found at tomatOrama.us.

Griping, whining, and continued pouting aren't important. Absolutely necessary, but not important. Download the game, let out some frustration and then get back to what's important, your Dad.
